

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve long-term capital growth and income by investing in equity securities or debt securities that are either traded in the Asia Pacific region or issued by companies incorporated in the Asia Pacific region or companies which have significant operations in or derive significant portion of revenue from the Asia Pacific region.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in REITs, equities, ETFs and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in the Asia Pacific region.
4. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities including high yield bonds, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
7. Investors may invest in RMB (Hedged) units. It should be noted that the RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Any devaluation of the RMB could adversely affect the value of investors' investments. There is no guarantee that the hedging strategy will be effective and investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
8. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
9. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund

Morningstar Overall Rating<sup>1</sup>

Increased Exposure in Defensive Stocks to Reduce Portfolio Risk

Highlights:

1. The Fund's investment strategy remains cautious amid continued market volatility
2. Increase weighting in the healthcare and consumer staples stocks to reduce risk
3. The Fund has risen 6.5%<sup>2</sup> in 1 year

Fund Features

- The Fund is an Asia Pacific equity-biased mixed-asset income fund, which invests in a prudent selection of blue-chip stocks with stable earnings and dividend growth potential.
- The Fund captures Asia Pacific blue chips' appreciation potential using a strategy of lower volatility, it employs flexible allocation in Asia Pacific bonds to enhance returns and diversify portfolio risks.

Market Review and Outlook

Equities

- Chinese onshore and offshore equity markets both fell in June due to the risk-off sentiment triggered by escalating U.S.-China trade tensions.
- The Australian market enjoyed another strong month in June, with its energy sector outperforming as a result of higher oil prices. The nation's quarterly GDP figures are above market expectation, driven mainly by export growth.
- Taiwan's equity index ended flat in June. The Taiwan dollar weakened sharply due to the strengthened U.S. dollar and net capital outflows. In terms of sectors, consumer and oil were the most resilient, while technology remained weak.

Bonds

- 10-year U.S. Treasury yields remained largely range-bound at around 2.85% to 3% in June and were still flat at 2.86% at the end of June. This was largely due to risk-off sentiment and a halt in hawkish statements from the Federal Reserve.
- Asian high yield bonds underperformed in June due to risk-off sentiment in the market, while Asian investment grade bonds outperformed given the stabilisation of U.S. Treasury yields and the mild spread widening.

Investment Strategy

Equities

- The Fund remains its cautious positions amid continued market volatility. We have reduced our positions in Chinese A shares, and trimmed exposure in Singapore and Thailand.
- The Fund has reduced its exposure in the technology, banking, and consumer discretionary sectors, while increasing its investment in defensive sectors, including healthcare and consumer staples.

Bonds

- The Fund continues to maintain a bond weighting of between 20% and 30%. In terms of duration, we have most of the underweight positions covered and are moving towards a neutral stance in response to trade war tensions.
- We expect U.S. Treasuries will continue to be well supported by the risk-off sentiments in the medium term.
