

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Multi Income Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve income and long-term capital growth by investing in an actively managed portfolio of debt securities, listed REITs, and other listed securities in the Asia Pacific region.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in listed REITs, equities and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in local and global marketplace.
4. The Fund may invest in lower-rated fixed income instruments, including below investment grade and non-rated debt securities, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
7. Investors may invest in RMB (Hedged) units. It should be noted that the RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Any devaluation of the RMB could adversely affect the value of investors' investments. There is no guarantee that the hedging strategy will be effective and investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
8. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
9. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Multi Income Fund

 Morningstar Overall Rating<sup>1</sup>
Volatile U.S. Treasury Yields Have Minor Impact on Asian High Yield Bonds

Highlights:

- 1. Asian high yield bonds supported by solid investment demand, show stable development
- 2. Tactical investment in Chinese property stocks
- 3. The Fund has achieved 2.4%<sup>2</sup> growth YTD and 11.3%<sup>2</sup> in 1 year

Fund Features

- The Fund focuses on high yielding Asia Pacific bonds and equities, distributions from both bonds and equities are the main source of income.

Market Review and Outlook
Bonds

- U.S. Treasury yields rose sharply in January, fuelled by better-than-expected economic data and heightened inflationary expectation. Despite increased market volatility, Asian high yield bonds continued to perform well in January. Chinese high yield bonds outperformed because of their higher yield carry and the limited price pressure given strong investor demand.
- The robust economic picture could result in a faster pace of monetary policy tightening by central banks in Europe and the U.S., but the impact on the Asian bond market will most likely be gradual. We remain cautious about potential risks, including: 1) the liquidity risk of high beta credits, 2) the portfolio's duration risk, and 3) new supply pressure from the primary market.

Equities

- Mainland China finished the year with strong economic data: real GDP grew 6.8% in the fourth quarter of 2017, bringing economic growth for the whole year to 6.9% – the first time it has accelerated since 2010. December's data accelerated sequentially, with industrial production and fixed asset investment up 6.2% and 6.3%, respectively.
- Strong southbound flows lifted Hong Kong's stock market higher, with mainland investors targeting especially lagging sectors such as banks. Chinese property sector also enjoyed a strong rally last month in response to the positive sales outlook.
- Economic sentiment continues to improve in Asia, with Singapore's GDP growth in the fourth quarter of 2017 stronger than expected, leading to growing confidence of a cyclical recovery.

Investment Strategy

Bonds

- The Fund continues to reduce its holdings of long-dated bonds and is switching to invest in more defensive short-dated Chinese property bonds. We also have a positive outlook on bonds in the commodities and energy-related sectors.
- The Fund added to its investment in selected Asian local currency bonds, such as in Malaysia and China, due to the strong demand from investors in these markets.

Equities

- There were few changes in the equities portfolio, as the Fund continued to add higher-yielding names in Australia and Taiwan.
- The Fund took profit on REITs in China and tactically invested in Chinese property stocks due to their stronger earnings outlook.
