

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asian Strategic Bond Fund (the "Fund") seeks medium to long term capital growth and regular income by primarily (i.e. at least 70% of its non-cash assets) investing in debt securities that are (a) denominated in Asian currencies, or (b) issued or guaranteed by Asian governments or entities which are incorporated in Asia or have significant operations or assets in, or derive significant portion of revenue or profits from Asia, and denominated in USD or other currencies including Asian currencies.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
4. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
5. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
6. RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. Non-RMB based (e.g. Hong Kong) investors are exposed to foreign exchange risk and there is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors' base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate. Any depreciation of RMB would adversely affect the value of investor's investment in the Fund.
7. The Fund may use derivative instruments for hedging purposes which may not achieve the intended purpose and may result in significant losses.
8. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

2. Yields of Asian investment grade bonds widen in response to U.S. Treasury movement

Fund Features

- The Fund adopts flexible allocation in Asian investment grade / high yield bonds, diversifying into different Asian countries, sectors, and currencies.
- The Fund invests not more than 50% in Asian high yield bonds in general conditions.
- Mainly invests in corporate bonds which tend to be less sensitive to rate hike cycle.

Market Review and Outlook

Review of Interest Rate Market

- The 10-year U.S. Treasury yields has increased in October to 3.14%. This was driven by good employment and economic data, which kept the Federal Reserve's rate hike schedule on track.

Asian Investment Grade Bonds

- In October, yields for Asian investment grade bonds widened in response to the movement of U.S. Treasuries. In terms of sectors, oil and gas performed relatively resiliently, while Chinese property and the Telecommunications, Media & Technology (TMT) sector underperformed. China's property market was affected by weakening industry dynamics, while TMT was impacted by the trade war.

Asian High Yield Bonds

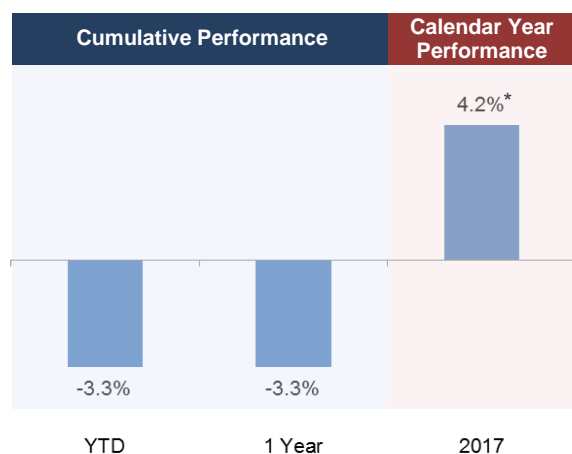

- Overall, Asian high yield bonds weakened in October. Chinese high yield property names underperformed as National Bureau of Statistics data confirmed a weakening trend, while an individual issuance at an unexpectedly low valuation triggered further re-pricing in the sector.
- Chinese high yield industrial names were impacted by a weaker A-share equity market and isolated cases of negative headlines for certain issuers.

Investment Strategy

- The Fund continued with a defensive strategy in October, and maintained its overweight allocation in Asian investment grade bonds in the near term.
- In terms of investment grade bonds, the Fund continues to trim its exposure in higher beta bonds and is switching to higher quality names.
- In terms of high yield bonds, we have reduced our holdings in some of the weaker Chinese high yield property and industrial bonds, and switched to selected Indonesian and Indian high yield bonds.
