

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment China High Yield Income Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve medium to long term capital growth and regular income by primarily investing in high yield debt securities that are issued or guaranteed by entities which are incorporated in China or have significant operations in or assets in, or derive significant portion of revenue or profits from China.
2. The Fund may invest significantly in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities, including high yield bonds, which are generally subject to lower liquidity, higher volatility and greater risk of loss of principal and interest than higher rated securities.
3. The Fund's investments are concentrated in China. The value of the Fund may be more volatile than that of a fund having a more diverse portfolio of investments.
4. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
5. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
6. RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. Non-RMB based (e.g. Hong Kong) investors are exposed to foreign exchange risk and there is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors' base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate. Any depreciation of RMB would adversely affect the value of investor's investment in the Fund.
7. The Fund may use certain financial derivative instruments for hedging and investment purposes, which may not achieve the intended purpose and may result in significant losses.
8. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

2. PBOC's RRR cut intended to smooth onshore liquidity and support corporate lending
3. Chinese high yield industrial bonds recover following resumption of onshore bond issuance

Fund Features

- The Fund diversifies over 60 China high yield bonds.
- Selects quality China high yield bonds to target stable income and additional return.

Market Review and Outlook
Review of Interest Rate Market

- 10-year U.S. Treasury yields had widened by 20 basis points to 3.06% by the end of September. This was driven by improved risk sentiment as the market digested headlines about the trade war and strong economic data in the U.S.
- The People's Bank of China cut the reserve requirement ratio by 100 basis points in early October to smooth liquidity conditions and support corporate lending amid rising trade tensions.

Chinese High Yield Bonds

- Asian high yield bond markets experienced recovery in September, Chinese high yield industrial bonds also recovered following a resumption of onshore bond issuance and positive corporate event on individual names.
- Chinese high yield property bonds remained stable in September despite an increase of new supply during the month.
- The onshore renminbi remains under pressure due to the escalating U.S.-China trade war. China's authorities have taken a proactive step to address the currency's weakness by reintroducing a counter cyclical factor in the fixing mechanism.

Investment Strategy

- The Fund maintained a fairly conservative strategy in September and switched from some high yield positions into the investment grade sector.
- The Fund trimmed down its exposure in higher beta high yield names, especially Indonesian and Indian entities which are vulnerable to increasing concerns about their countries' macro condition.
- We prefer short-dated Chinese high yield property for their attractive valuations and solid fundamentals.
- The Fund tactically participated in several high yield and investment grade new issues which showed potential for capital appreciation.
