

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund (the “Fund”) seeks to achieve long-term capital growth and income by investing in equity securities or debt securities that are either traded in the Asia Pacific region or issued by companies incorporated in the Asia Pacific region or companies which have significant operations in or derive significant portion of revenue from the Asia Pacific region.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund is subject to equity markets risk such as changes in investment sentiment, economic conditions and issuer-specific factors which may adversely affect the fund value.
4. The Fund invests in debts or fixed income securities are exposed to interest rates, credit/counterparty, downgrading, volatility and liquidity, valuation and sovereign debt and credit rating risks which may adversely affect the price of the debt securities.
5. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities which are subject to greater volatility and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
6. The Fund is exposed to concentration risk in Asia Pacific region and may be more volatile than in a more diverse portfolio of investment.
7. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder’s original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
8. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that the currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
9. RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. Non-RMB based (e.g. Hong Kong) investors are exposed to foreign exchange risk and there is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors’ base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate. Any depreciation of the RMB could adversely affect the value of investors’ investments.
10. The Fund may acquire financial derivative instruments for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in financial derivative instruments, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
11. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund (“AFA”)

Overweight quality growth in Australia and tactically overweight China A-shares

Highlights:

1. Remains cautious with rising bond yields and concerns over EM debt level
2. Overweight quality growth in Australia and tactically overweight China A-shares
3. Fund flow rotations between value and growth trades

Fund Features

- The Fund is an Asia Pacific equity-biased mixed-asset income fund, which invests in a prudent selection of blue-chip stocks to seek for alpha.
- The Fund employs flexible allocation in Asia Pacific bonds to enhance returns potential and diversify portfolio risks.

Market Review and Outlook

Equities

- Asian equities pulled back in March where continued weakness in China overshadowed outperformance in Singapore and India.
- China weakness persisted for the third consecutive month, mainly dragged by the rising U.S. 10-years Treasury yield, and Chinese ADRs de-listing concerns.
- Pace of economy reopening, rising bond yields and inflation, fund flow rotations between value and growth trades.

Bonds

- Contrary to the outflow in February, the inflow to Emerging Asian market re-emerged.
- Risk assets initially reacted negatively with rate but gradually stabilized and adopted to the surging rate. And Asian bond spreads look to stabilize when the U.S. Treasury yields see more stabilization.

Investment Strategy

Equities

- The Fund has taken profit in Bank and Airline and rotated into recovery and value plays at the recent pull back.
- In view of the pace of vaccination roll out, economy recovery and inflation, the Fund has increased exposure in commodities and value/reopening plays.

Bonds

- The Fund's duration continues to underweight. We overweight HK on resilient technical.
- The Fund will position slightly cautious and focus more on credit selection.
