

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund (the “Fund”) seeks to achieve long-term capital growth and income by investing in equity securities or debt securities that are either traded in the Asia Pacific region or issued by companies incorporated in the Asia Pacific region or companies which have significant operations in or derive significant portion of revenue from the Asia Pacific region.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund is subject to equity markets risk such as changes in investment sentiment, economic conditions and issuer-specific factors which may adversely affect the fund value.
4. The Fund invests in debts or fixed income securities are exposed to interest rates, credit/counterparty, downgrading, volatility and liquidity, valuation and sovereign debt and credit rating risks which may adversely affect the price of the debt securities.
5. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities which are subject to greater volatility and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
6. The Fund is exposed to concentration risk in Asia Pacific region and may be more volatile than in a more diverse portfolio of investment.
7. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder’s original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
8. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that the currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
9. RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. Non-RMB based (e.g. Hong Kong) investors are exposed to foreign exchange risk and there is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors’ base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate. Any depreciation of the RMB could adversely affect the value of investors’ investments.
10. The Fund may acquire financial derivative instruments for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in financial derivative instruments, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
11. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Flexi Allocation Fund (“AFA”)

Chinese Information Technology and Healthcare Stocks Outperform

Highlights:

1. Chinese information technology and healthcare stocks outperform the market
2. Rotation trade into value stocks boosts Hong Kong financial and property stocks
3. Chinese high yield property bonds continued to record a positive return

Fund Features

- The Fund is an Asia Pacific equity-biased mixed-asset income fund, which invests in a prudent selection of blue-chip stocks with relatively stable earnings and dividend growth potential.
- The Fund captures Asia Pacific blue chips’ appreciation potential using a strategy of lower volatility, it employs flexible allocation in Asia Pacific bonds to enhance returns potential and diversify portfolio risks.

Market Review and Outlook

Equities

- Asian equities rallied in June, Hong Kong and China were the outperformers. In China, information technology and healthcare sectors outperformed due to the strong tilt for the new economy exposures and localisation theme.
- The financials and properties were the leading sectors in the Hong Kong stock market, and the positive catalyst was the rotation into value stocks in the banking and property sectors. At the same time, the strong southbound inflows also helped support the market rally.

- We expect the market to remain volatile amidst geopolitical risks and trade negotiations. However, the central banks' easing and policy stimulus may provide near term support and investment opportunities.

Bonds

- In terms of Asian high yield bonds, Chinese high yield property sector continued to record a positive return. Recovery is on track for contract sales. The valuation of Chinese high yield property bonds had trended closer to the pre-sell-off level in March.
- In terms of Asian investment grade bonds, despite a hefty supply of new issuance, the overall market continued to hold up well. We expect Asian investment grade credits to remaining solid, and credit spreads mildly tighten on the back of the constructive and stable backdrop.

Investment Strategy

Equities

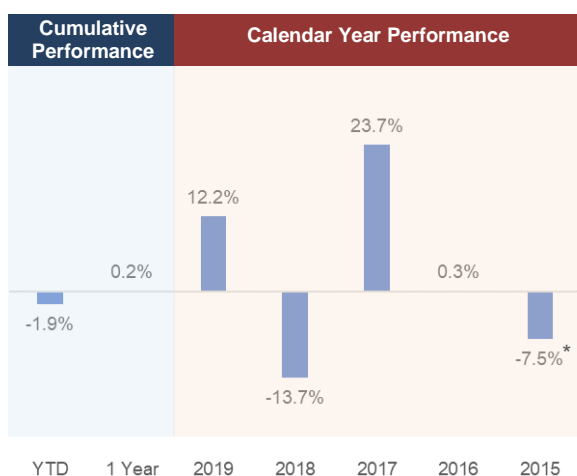

- The Fund took profit from Malaysia and added into Australia and Hong Kong. In terms of sector, we took profit from healthcare and added to materials and financials.
- We remain cautious and are mindful of global economic slowdown, earnings revision, policy measures and volatile sentiments. We prefer global leaders which are defensive, beneficiaries of localisation and structural growth theme, with high-quality earnings, strong free cash flow and strong balance sheet.

Bonds

- The Fund has switched into laggards and added into the metal and mining sector to capture the recovery of commodity prices. At the same time, the Fund increased its exposures in emerging market sovereign and quasi-sovereign bonds to capture the increasing inflows to the region.
- In terms of investment grade bonds, we remain neutral in duration. We continue our overweight position in China and Indonesia, while investment in India remained underweight.
