

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve medium to long term capital growth and income through investing in a diversified portfolio consisting of global equity securities and/or debt securities in global markets.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in equities, REITs, ETFs and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in the global markets.
4. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities including high yield bonds, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge. In terms of RMB classes of units, RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
7. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
8. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund ("GFA")

Continue to Overweight Exposure in High Yield Bonds

Highlights:

1. Global equity market continued to trend up in April as macroeconomic data showed signals of stabilization
2. Market sentiment for global investment grade bonds remains solid
3. The Fund continues to overweight exposure in high yield bonds due to attractive valuations

Fund Features

- The Fund is a one-stop solution for global equity and bond investment.
- Prudent selection of stable, global large-cap equities with capital appreciation potential. Flexible allocation across Asian high yield bonds and global investment grade corporate bonds.

Market Review and Outlook

Bonds

- In terms of global investment grade bonds, market sentiment in April remains solid, valuations have been range bound, credit spread still constructive and stable.
- In April, Asian high yield credit market remained stable overall. Chinese industrial, Indian corporates and Macau gaming sectors were top performing, where we see moderate spread tightening driven by the demand from diversification.
- Chinese high yield property bonds underperformed in April, the sector was impacted by the increase in new issues and tightening policy in certain cities. Indonesian high yield property bonds also underperformed, mainly due to risk-off sentiment ahead of the president election.

Equities

- Global equity markets continue to trend up in April. April was rather uneventful as there was no major monetary policy change or new trade-talk development, macroeconomic data showed signals of stabilization and sentiment further improved.
- U.S. equities outperformed other developed markets in April. The manufacturing data improved in March and job data remained solid, while inflation was slightly below expectation. Earning season started with the majority met or exceeded expectations and it helped equity market return.
- In April, European equities went up along with global markets. There were some signals of stabilization in the macro, the Eurozone manufacturing data suggested a slower contraction and inflation has also ticked up.

Investment Strategy

Bonds

- In terms of bonds, the duration of the Fund remains neutral.
- We continue to overweight exposure in high yield bonds due to their attractive valuations. At the same time, we continue to overweight BBB-rated names selectively in investment grade portfolio.

Equities

- There was no major change to the Fund's portfolio in April.
- The Fund has a neutral stance on regional allocation and systematically invests in companies with appealing growth and reasonable valuations in their industries. It has slight overweight in consumer staples and consumer discretionary sectors and a slight underweight in financials.

1. Source: Lipper, as at 30 April 2019. The quoted return is for A USD (Distributing) launched on 27 January 2016. Performance is calculated in the respective class of denominated currencies on a NAV to NAV basis. Gross income is re-invested.
2. Annualised dividend yield = (dividend of April x 12) / last month end NAV x 100%. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit. Dividend only applies to distributing classes and is not guaranteed. Past dividend record is not indicative of future dividend likely to be achieved. Please note that a positive distribution yield does not imply a positive return.
