

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve medium to long term capital growth and income through investing in a diversified portfolio consisting of global equity securities and/or debt securities in global markets.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in equities, REITs, ETFs and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in the global markets.
4. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities including high yield bonds, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge. In terms of RMB classes of units, RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
7. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
8. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund ("GFA")

Strong Inflows to Global Investment Grade Bonds Continue

Highlights:

1. Inflows to global investment grade bonds remain strong
2. Global equity markets recovered following the U.S. Fed's pivot to a more dovish stance
3. The Fund continues to add higher beta global investment grade bonds to the portfolio

Fund Features

- The Fund is a one-stop solution for global equity and bond investment.
- Prudent selection of stable, global large-cap equities with capital appreciation potential. Flexible allocation across Asian high yield bonds and global investment grade corporate bonds.

Market Review and Outlook

Bonds

- In terms of global investment grade bonds, inflows remained strong in June. The credit spreads continued to tighten as a result of buying activities, aviation, metal and mining outperformed among sectors. We expect the credit spreads to remain supportive across different sectors in the near term.
- In June, overall market sentiment for Asian high yield bonds improved as the U.S. and China agreed to resume trade talk and the U.S. halting its plan on additional tariff. Indonesian and Indian names outperformed the market with material spread tightening.
- Despite the U.S. and China resumed trade talk, the weakening trend of economic data in these two biggest economies, along with the longer term liquidity impact from a troubled commercial bank, the market is expected to remain volatile as more headlines emerge.

Equities

- The U.S. equity market recovered strongly in June after May sell off. The Federal Reserve indicated its readiness to switch to expansionary monetary policy if needed. The G20 meeting ended on a positive note with a truce in the U.S.-China trade war.
- The European equity markets also rebounded strongly in June. Despite the broader economic data continued to suggest a slower growth, market sentiment improved due to expectation of loosening monetary policy. The European Central Bank has ruled out the possibility of rate hike next year and has indicated to introduce other accommodative measures or rate cut.
- Japanese equities recovered along with the global markets; cyclical was the outperforming sector in June. Inflation data announced was in line with market expectations and industrial production surprised the market on the upside.

Investment Strategy

Bonds

- In terms of global investment grade bonds, the Fund increased its overweight in duration and continued to add higher beta names to the portfolio.
- The Fund continues to position slightly defensive in Asian high yield bonds and maintains a moderately level of higher beta and longer duration names in view of the tightening liquidity situation, restrictions on the Chinese property market, risk revolving around the trade talk.

Equities

- There was no major change to the Fund's portfolio in June.
- The Fund has a neutral stance on regional allocation and systematically invests in companies with appealing growth and reasonable valuations in their industries.

1. Source: Lipper, as at 28 June 2019. The quoted return is for A USD (Distributing) launched on 27 January 2016. Performance is calculated in the respective class of denominated currencies on a NAV to NAV basis. Gross income is re-invested.
2. Annualised dividend yield = (dividend of June x 12) / last month end NAV x 100%. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit. Dividend only applies to distributing classes and is not guaranteed. Past dividend record is not indicative of future dividend likely to be achieved. Please note that a positive distribution yield does not imply a positive return.
