

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve medium to long term capital growth and income through investing in a diversified portfolio consisting of global equity securities and/or debt securities in global markets.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in equities, REITs, ETFs and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in the global markets.
4. The Fund may invest in below investment grade or non-rated debt securities including high yield bonds, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge. In terms of RMB classes of units, RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
7. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
8. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

BEA Union Investment Global Flexi Allocation Fund ("GFA")

U.S. Treasury Yields Continue to Stay at Low Level

Highlights:

1. The U.S. Treasury yields is expected to stay at low level on the back of potential rate cuts
2. Our preference remains on higher quality global investment grade bonds
3. The Fund continues to invest into stocks with appealing growth and reasonable valuations

Fund Features

- The Fund is a one-stop solution for global equity and bond investment.
- Prudent selection of stable, global large-cap equities with capital appreciation potential. Flexible allocation across Asian high yield bonds and global investment grade corporate bonds.

Market Review and Outlook
Bonds

- In terms of global investment grade bonds, credit spreads widened by 10 to 20 basis points in general due to risk-off sentiment in August. We expect credit spreads to tighten following a strong rally year-to-date and no further catalyst to support.
- In August, overall Asian high yield bond market weakened due to escalation of the U.S.-China trade war, weakening commodity prices and further tightening of housing policy in China. In terms of sectors, financials and Indian utilities outperformed the most with stable returns, while Indonesian metal and mining sector was the most underperformed.
- We expect the U.S. Treasury yields will continue to stay at low level as global central banks continue to ease monetary policy and cut interest rates.

Equities

- The world's equity markets retreated across the board in August, U.S. equities also pulled back but outperformed relatively. The uncertainties around the U.S.-China trade conflict continued to haunt the markets. In terms of sectors, cyclical, energy and banking were hit the most.
- European equities dropped along with global equities. Economic data continue its weakening trend, intra-European Union trade statistics fell further and German industrial production growth reported its lowest level since 2009. The market is expecting more interest rate cut by European Central Bank on the back of deteriorating economic activities.
- Japanese equities showed relatively resilient amid rising volatility in global markets. Japan's economic data is improving, in the second quarter, real GDP and industrial production surprised the market on the upside.

Investment Strategy

Bonds

- In terms of global investment grade bonds, the Fund's duration positions were slightly overweight. We maintain a strong preference for higher credit quality names of global investment grade bonds.
- The Fund will position modestly defensive in Asian high yield bonds and maintains a slightly lower level of higher beta and longer duration bonds in view of the tightening Chinese onshore liquidity, restrictions on the Chinese property market and evolving development of the trade talk.

Equities

- There was no major change to the Fund's portfolio in August.
- The Fund has a neutral stance on regional allocation and systematically invests in companies with appealing growth and reasonable valuations in their industries.

1. Source: Lipper, as at 31 August 2019. The quoted return is for A USD (Distributing) launched on 27 January 2016. Performance is calculated in the respective class of denominated currencies on a NAV to NAV basis. Gross income is re-invested.
2. Annualised dividend yield = (dividend of August x 12) / last month end NAV x 100%. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit. Dividend only applies to distributing classes and is not guaranteed. Past dividend record is not indicative of future dividend likely to be achieved. Please note that a positive distribution yield does not imply a positive return.
